Check it out

have/get something done

When we pay (or persuade) someone to do a job for us instead of doing it ourselves, we use the correct tense of have/get + object + Past Participle.

Get is more informal than have and is not normally used with the Present Perfect tense.

We had the car repaired. (at a garage)

When do we get our photo taken? (by a photographer)

You haven't had your hair cut for a long time.
